Training Session

For black and minority ethnic individuals

Thursday 2nd February 2012

4 - 6pm

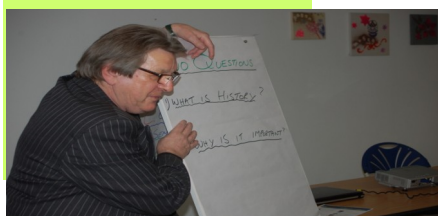

@ Scottish National Portrait Gallery

1 Queen Street, Edinburgh EH2 1JD

Mini buses will leave from CORE at 3.30pm

The training session will include guided tours of the newly renovated Scottish National Portrait Gallery where participants will enjoy looking at new displays and explore a comprehensive overview of Scotland past and present through a wealth of imagery ranging from the traditional to the contemporary, encompassing painting, photography, sculpture and film. The training session will also include interactive discussion and there will be a Q&A session that will allow participants to clarify any specific issues that they may have.

Please note this training session is free. Activities for children over 5 and light refreshments will be available. Advanced booking recommended. To book a place, please call CORE on 0131 467 7990 or email administrator@coregb.org.uk
