Historic Scotland Project

this new project aims to increase minority ethnic community knowledge, appreciation and enjoyment of the Scottish historic environment. It recognises the fact that Scotland's historic environment is a powerful tool that can be utilised for recreational, health, social and educational development for the local black & minority ethnic communities. The project also aims to demonstrate that working with and enjoying Scottish historic spaces can enhance BME people's lives and bring BME community groups together. It will deliver a wide range of visits to historic places, seminars, workshops and a other exciting hands-on activities.
